Two Weeks Until 25th Anniversary 9/11 Conference in New York City

Roger Waters, Jimmy Dore, Dennis Kucinich, Bret Weinstein, 9/11 family members and first responders among dozens gathering Sept. 10–13; ‘The Responders’ to make theatrical premiere on Sept. 11; entire conference to stream live worldwide

NEW YORK, NY — Two weeks from now, 9/11 family members, first responders, researchers, journalists, public figures, and concerned citizens will gather in New York City for Turning the Tide: 9/11 25 Years Later, a four-day conference marking the 25th anniversary of September 11 and calling for truth, justice, peace, and government accountability.

Taking place September 10–13 at El Teatro at El Museo del Barrio, on Manhattan’s Museum Mile, the conference will feature dozens of speakers spanning the 9/11 Truth movement, independent media, public service, science, law, and related movements for transparency and accountability.

Among the featured speakers are Roger Waters, human rights activist and co-founder of Pink Floyd; comedian and political commentator Jimmy Dore; former U.S. Representative Dennis Kucinich; evolutionary biologist and DarkHorse Podcast host Bret Weinstein, Ph.D.; Children’s Health Defense CEO Mary Holland, J.D.; Peak Prosperity founder Chris Martenson; biowarfare researcher and health freedom advocate Meryl Nass, M.D.; Pentagon whistleblower Lt. Col. Karen Kwiatkowski (ret.); independent journalist James Corbett; architect Richard Gage, AIA; and retired Danish professor of chemistry Niels Harrit.

They will be joined by numerous 9/11 family members, survivors, and first responders, including Matt Campbell, who will appear before the UK Supreme Court in October in his effort to obtain a new inquest into the death of his brother Geoff at the World Trade Center; longtime 9/11 family advocate Bob McIlvaine; 9/11 survivor and advocate William Rodriguez; and firefighters, police officers, and other emergency personnel who responded on September 11.

Sept. 11 Theatrical Premiere of ‘The Responders: Breaking the Silence’

A highlight of the conference will be the theatrical premiere of the new feature-length documentary The Responders: Breaking the Silence at 2:00 PM on Friday, September 11. (See trailer.)

Combining exclusive interviews with rarely seen archival footage, the film tells the story of first responders who risked their lives on September 11, 2001, and who later found the courage to speak publicly about what they witnessed and experienced. The screening will be followed by a live Q&A with director John Kirby and several of the film’s protagonists.

Friday’s program will also commemorate the 25th anniversary through testimony from 9/11 family members, first responders, and survivors and calls for renewed pursuit of truth and justice.

Four Days Examining 9/11 — and Its Legacy

The conference opens Thursday evening, September 10, with keynote presentations and a session examining the assassination of Charlie Kirk one year later.

Saturday, September 12, will feature a marathon 12-hour program devoted to “9/11 Truth Then and Now,” including presentations and panel discussions examining the evidence surrounding 9/11, the history and future of the 9/11 Truth movement, and resistance through comedy, culminating with an evening keynote by Jimmy Dore.

Sunday’s closing program, “Overcoming the Deep State,” will broaden the discussion to other major “deep events” and crimes against democracy and explore how citizens can build a more peaceful and accountable future.

Free Worldwide Livestream on Redacted

For those unable to attend in New York, all four days of Turning the Tide will be broadcast live and archived for later viewing on Redacted, hosted by Clayton and Natali Morris.

Last year’s inaugural Turning the Tide conference in Washington, D.C., reached hundreds of thousands of people through its livestream. Organizers expect this year’s free worldwide broadcast to bring the 25th anniversary gathering to an even larger audience.

The livestream will be accessible through TurningTheTide911.org and Redacted’s YouTube and Rumble channels.

Discount Student Tickets Available

In an effort to engage a new generation in questions surrounding 9/11 and its consequences, organizers are offering 60%-off student admission with valid student ID.

A four-day student pass is $60, compared with $150 for general admission. Student single-day tickets are $30 for Saturday and $20 for Thursday, Friday, or Sunday.

General admission tickets are $150 for all four days, $75 for Saturday, and $40 for Thursday, Friday, or Sunday.
